Bachelor of Arts (Honours) in
Fine Art Sculpture, Glasgow
School of Art, 1992

Masters of Arts in Interior
Design, Manchester
Metropolitan University, 1997

Ramon Robertson has been working as an artist in Auckland, New Zealand since arriving in 2011. Prior to this he lived in Glasgow, Scotland where he also worked as an artist, designer and tertiary lecturer.

In 1992 Ramon graduated from Glasgow School of Art with a BA Honours Degree in Fine Art Sculpture and In 1997 he completed a MA in Interior Design at Manchester Metropolitan University, for which he undertook sculpture and installation projects related to interiors and architecture.

Robertson's work engages with aspects of architecture and urbanisation. The mass production and standardization of objects is also a focus, in particular, the observation of the effects of our visual perception in regards to objects and environment. Themes linking to human condition and behavior in the city are also concepts explored in his work.

Ramon has exhibited widely in Auckland since 2011, including 'NZ Sculpture On Shore' in 2012, 2014 and 2016 as well as the 'Harbourview Sculpture Trail' in 2014 & 2016 - winning the people's choice award with his sculpture 'Void' (2014). Robertson was invited to exhibit in the prestigious 'Sculpture in the Gardens' at the Auckland Botanical Gardens, in 2015 and 2017 and was recently commissioned by the Wallace Arts Trust Collection for a large outdoor work, currently on display at Par Homestead.
